

CALAPOOIA WATERSHED COUNCIL

- Non-regulatory and non-enforcement; voluntary restoration; 501c3 organization.
- Stakeholder board of directors: farmers, timber companies, small woodlands, small business owners, recreation reps.
- Brownsville office with restoration, youth environmental education and operations staff.
- Priorities include fish passage, invasive species control, water quality enhancement, youth watershed education & awareness.
- Benefits for fish, wildlife, landowners and managers, local economies.

BOWERS ROCK RESTORATION PARTNERS

Oregon Parks and Recreation, Dennis Wiley and Additional Staff
Calapooia Watershed Council, Tara Davis and Board Members
Confluence Consulting, Denise Hoffert-Hay, Project Manager
River Design Group, Scott Wright, River Engineer
Private Landowners
Greenbelt Land Trust
Permitting/Fisheries Agencies
Oregon State University

WILLAMETTE INITIATIVE PARTNERS

Local Watershed Councils

Local Land Trusts

Private Landowners

County Soil and Water Conservation Districts (Linn, Lane etc.)

Municipalities- Albany and Salem

Public Owners (OPRD)

Other non-profits like The Nature Conservancy

SEARCH

CONTACT US

LOGIN

- HOME
- ABOUT WRI
- FUNDING
- OUR GRANTEES
- RIVER STORIES
- TOOLS & RESOURCES
- MEDIA GALLERY
- NEWS & EVENTS

Our grantees in the tributaries have put over a million native plants in the ground since 2009.

Learn more about the Willamette Model Watershed Program »

Learn About WRI
About Us »

Explore the River
River Stories »

See Who's Working In Your Community
Our Grantees »

Featured River Story

Floodplain Restoration at Harkens Lake

Gary Horning and his son Steve grow many iconic Willamette Valley crops on their family farm near Monroe, Oregon, including grass seed and hazelnuts. But soon the Hornings will add a different kind of crop to the list – native trees like black cottonwood and Oregon ash that once formed a forest where their farm is now.

Read More »

News

View all News »

River cities look to the Willamette for drinking water

Events

View all Events »

Oregon Watershed Councils Fall Gathering

- Home
- About Us
- What We Do
- Events
- Recreation
- Projects
- Landowner Toolbox
- Donate

Landowner Resources

Conservation programs, vegetation management, instream restoration, and other watershed resources and publications.

News and Events

